

BRADY PYLE

Translator of "The NASA Way" | Leadership & Culture Expert

Space-tested. Spirit-led.

Where NASA strategy
meets servant leadership.

Brady's 30-year career at NASA includes earning the NASA Outstanding Leadership Medal twice. From 2018 to 2023, he became the agency's first-ever leader of HR field executives, driving the transition to a unified OneHR model. This transformation cut HR costs by 25% and introduced a new HR Business Partner framework—all while helping NASA maintain its standing as the Best Place to Work in the Federal Government for eleven consecutive years.

Today, Brady serves as Chief Human Resources & Inclusion Officer at Space Center Houston. A servant leader in every sphere, he is also an ordained deacon who has helped guide his church through major leadership transitions as part of its inaugural and current Executive Councils.

Brady is the creator of OutOfThisWorldLeadership.com, a leadership blog featuring 350+ book summaries, widely recognized as a top resource in its field. In 2024, he was named HRO Today's Learning & Development Executive of the Year for Lifetime Achievement. He continues to inspire as a speaker, coach, author, and consultant.

Brady is masterful in weaving together the leadership lessons he's learned in a very challenging environment with his clearly articulated Christian faith. Not a surprise to me since he's been an active learner, a solid contributor and a man of faith since the first day he came to work in our HR operation at NASA nearly 30 years ago. I recommend him...you'll be blessed in your work life and your faith walk!

Bursting with compelling stories and insights, Brady humbly and effectively explores effective servant leadership. His words are actionable--a game changer to help all leaders succeed at home, at work, and with themselves.
